Mockup A

Surprise me a lot. The vibrant color really fit with the young, powerful vibe the group have, it feels very energetic and eye-catching. In the previous design direction, I was actually more thinking of a dark background and tone, but after seen this version, I would say the pink and bright color really works well and make the group stand out. Some advice: I would like to see more hierarchy happening in the page, for example a more clear divide for different content groups and a bit more focus on information architecture and UI, like clearer sections and headings.

Mockup B

This vibe more fit with my expectation of the group vibe and color, the dark and futurism design helps a lot in translating the groups beliefs and concept. But I personally are more leaning towards the pink version, because it feels more fresh and surprising. Maybe this version can also push hierarchy and spacing a bit more, so the main content is easier to scan.

Overall

Visually really appealing. Can make some improvements in the aspect if information foraging, like a more organized page content organization so users can quickly find what they need. Moreover, I think more icon in the page would be helpful in making the webpage looks nice and clear, for example icons for video, schedule or social media links.
